STORY OF ABISHA, NOW A KG TEACHER

Abisha now works as an LKG Teacher in Kings School. She was married just two weeks ago. The wedding function was arranged by their parents at her native place MaruthaKulam near Tirunelveli. She married a shop owner of Mobile Services in Parappadi. She was admitted to the Trust when she was just 3 years old and was there for about 18 years. Her mother worked in the Trust and she grew up there along with her brother and sister. She was educated in a local Tamil Medium School and afterwards, did her degree in BA English. Her education, along with her brother and sisters' was completely funded by the Trust. She was working in a motorcycle showroom when Uncle Colin saw her and recommended her to apply for a teaching position in the Kindergarten in Kings School. Without Kings World Trust for Children, her and her siblings' future would have turned out very different. She is very thankful for the support she received from the Kings World Trust for Children.
